CURE COLD SORES

Frequently touching the cold sore with alcohol when the first irritation makes itself manifest is very effective. In this, as in everything else, prevention is better than cure, and nlpping in the bud is more satisfactory than waiting until the trouble has reached noticeable proportions. If you want to make your own lip salve take five grains of camphor, one-half draw of powdered arrowroot, one-half dram of subnitrate of bismuth, and one-half ounce of ointment of rosewa ter, and apply it to the lips whenever necessary
